Fast Facts – Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport

Phoenix is home to one of the most accessible, affordable and welcoming major airports in the United States.

Here's why:

- Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport is 8th largest air megahub in North America, and the average domestic airfare to/from Sky Harbor has been lower than the national average since 1995.*
- Unlike almost every other airport in the country, Sky Harbor is served by 15 carriers and is a hub for two major airlines, American Airlines and Southwest. Both are low-cost carriers. The result for travelers to Phoenix: "It gives them more choices," says OAG senior analyst John Grant. "It gives them more competition, which helps them with lower fares."
- Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport is ranked in the top 10 U.S. airports for on-time departures and arrivals in 2016.*
- Free Wi-Fi is available in every terminal and public space.
- ThePointsGuy.com named Sky Harbor the best airport in the country, citing scores from the FAA, J.D. Power, low parking fees, light rail access and exceptional amenities.
- The American Kennel Club ranked Sky Harbor No. 8 most dog-friendly airport in the country. The airport boasts seven animal-relief areas for four-legged fliers.
- The airport is home to the Navigators, a group of cheerful volunteers who are devoted to ensuring all passengers at Sky Harbor have a positive experience. You can find them wearing their bright purple shirts and a smile.
- Adult changing stations in family restrooms for travelers with disabilities.
- Home to local restaurants such as Barrio Cafe, Chelsea's Kitchen, La Grande Orange, Matt's Big Breakfast and Modern Burger. In fact, Sky Harbor was recently ranked No. 2 for airport dining by frequent-flier website RewardExpert.com.
